THEATER. - "Still Water Runs Deep" and "Black eyed Susau" were performed last night, with exellent casts in both instances. Mr. Neafie displayed his versatility by assuming the characters of John Mildmay and William. In the latter he was quite at home, seeming to be well posted in uautical matters. "Black Eyed Susan" went off with greater zest than usual, not only on account of the peculiar aptness of some of the company for certain characters but also for ome original jokes interspersed by Scallan, the funuy man, and his shipmates. Miss Ida Vernon ook the character of Susan, and made a very ex ellent and creditable personation. She is as ready in characters of that nature as in those of a higher cast, and always performs naturally and

The price of admission has been ced here at $2 and $1, which is much below the Eastern prices, and will, we feel, give general satisfaction. The enthusiasm is really wonderful and we almost recall the days of Jenny Lind.

SHOOTING AT RUSHVILLE, IND .- On the 12th inst. Chomas A. Jones shot Frank U. Howard, at Rush rille, Ind., and inflicted wounds that will probably prove fatal. It seems that Howard was visit ing a sister of Jones' against the consent of the latter, who threatened to shoot him if he repeated is visits. Howard disregarded the threat, and, Jones returning to his home, and finding Howard ere, commenced shooting at him with a revolver. Much excitement prevailed, and, for a time, it was lought the inhabitants would lynch Jones. He vas finally held in $3,000 bonds to appear at the next Circuit Court. Howard is represented as a verv estimable citizen.

Provisions .- The "bears" have stood oil for ome time, and the "bulls" were seen standing about their doors looking a little mad, but the dispatches of yesterday evening gave new life, nd scemed to warrant them in their continued and unshaken firmness. during the month of February, about five and a fourth inches of rain have fallen.

One of the most valuable books, of recent publi cation, is the Life of Thomas Jefferson, by Henry S. Randall, L. L. D. It Is printed in three large volumes, in the very best style of Derby & Jackson, New York. The paper is pure, the typography clear, the binding excellent, and the composition all that the scholar and the seeker of valuable information can desire. Few such men have lived in this world as Thomas Jefferson. He was a scholar, a sage, a patriot, and a man. As Washington was with the sword of the revolution, so was Jefferson with its pen. His great mind thought mighty thoughts, and his pen committed them to paper with a power and eloquence that captivated the heart and convinced the mind.

It was Jefferson who inaugurated the policy of ularging our public domain. In 1804, while he was I'resident of the United States, the purchase of Louisiana was made. We thus acquired a Territory large enough to make more States than belonged to the original confederacy which adopted the present Constitution. The States of Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, the Indian Territory, and the vast Territories of Nebraska and Kansas, all were acquired by this wise purchase. Within these extensive bounds will be found a population and a National greatness in years to come that would be immortality enough for Jefferson if he had never done anything in his life but sign the bill of sale from France to the United States for this Territory.

To the Democrat of our times, the life of Jef. ferson is an indispensable book. He was the apostle of Democracy. He laid the foundation of the mighty party which now rules this land. In he book before, wherein Mr. Randall has so faithfully sketched the life of this great man, the germ of all sound Democracy may be found. Let every emocrat buy the book and read it for the knowledge he loves, and let every opposing politician our it and read it for the knowledge that he would gladly blot out of the world. The perusal of the book will be cheering to the one, and, perhaps, convince the other of the error of his way. The book is for sale here by J. R. Cunningham, an intelligent, clever and gentlemanly agent, who will be glad to fill all orders. WILD SCENES IN THE PAR WEST. By Frederick Gertstalcker. Translated from the German. This is a neatly printed and beautifully bound clume of 396 pages. It contains the adventures

f a cclebrated sportsman in the West and South. t is written in very attractive style, and illustrated y eight crayon engravings, executed in oil colors. Altogether, it is a very interesting book, and will well repay a perusal, besides being useful and ornamental for the library.

STREET THOUGHTS. By Rev. Henry M. Dexter, pas for of Pine street Church, Boston. This is a neatly gotten up little volume, of 216 pages. It consists of sketches, essays, and morizings upon various subjects. It is handsomely illustrated by Billings. It is written in a scholarly and rather quaint style, which wins upon the reader, and fixes his attention.

THE AMERICAN ALMANAC, and Repository of Use-An invaluable aid to the politician, the merchant, the editor, and, in short, to all classes of the community.

The last named books are published by Crosby, Nichols & Co., Boston, and for sale in this city by F. A. Crump. The editor of Journal says that in discusing the financial atlairs of the city, we got up maginary ten-pins for him to knock down. He may consider the wrongs we pointed out imaginary, because he knows the reality is worse, but we shall come to the reality before we are done with him and his protegees. The action of the Auditor, in withdrawing the report we assailed. shows that we have knocked down one real pin, and if the editor proves thus successful in making to tremble those that we shall set up for him between now and the election, he will do well. Thanks to the gas man for lighting up the wo nights previous, while the rain was pourng down in torrents. But we did not need the ight as much as we did the nights previous, when a occasional lamp might have enabled us to see low dark it was, but still it was well to have it. As the city pays for the gas, we are in favor of burning it. The Gas Company makes money enough out of private citizens, without chousing the people at large.

LOUISVILLE VS. NEW ORLEANS TOBACCO.-The sales of tobacco reported to-day are at rather low rates, but the order of a great deal of it is bad. We hear of a purchase of old lugs in New Orleans yesterday, for manufacturing in this city, at five dollars, which must prove a heavey loss to the shipper. This is the market for planters and

AN APPLICTED FAMILY. - Three interesting children, from two to six years of age, of Hon. Stanley Matthews, near Cincinnati, were buried at the same time on Tuesday last, and a fourth child is not expected to recover. The fatal disease was scarlet fever, which seems te be quite preva ent in and about Cincinnati this season. The editor of the Journal charges Senator

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON

[Correspondence of the Louisville Courier.] the Admission of Oregon-The Effects of it, and the Causes which Contributed to it—The Opposition Programme for 1860.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15, 1859.

Editors Louisville Courier: Oregon is a State .-Long before this writing the telegraph has conveyed to you this pleasing intelligence, yet I cannot refrain from repeating it. Oregon is a State, away upon the shores of the North Pacific. The patriots of to-day have picked up a pearl "richer than all the tribe," and have added it to the oright coronet which graces the brow of American Democracy. New York and Liverpool on the one side, and Portland and Jeddo on the other .-What a prospect!—aye, more than a mere prospect, when we know that the wiidest dreams of enthusiasts cannot equal the reality of wealth, power, and empire, which the American Congress has to-day opened up to tempt the enterprise and cupidity of man. Of all acts ever done by the American people, I think I am safe in saying that none equals in magnitude and grandeur that of the admission of Oregon. It is to-day the theme of every tongue; and one hundred years from now here will stand on some lofty peak of the Rocky fountains a monument, with the colossal statue of General Lane towering high on its top; and by his side will stand, with long, skeleton finger pointing to the South, a likeness of the withered form of Stephens, of Georgia, and stretching forth the constitution of Oregon to the North; on the other side of him will stand the marble which will perpetuate the name of Hughes, of Indiana and the genius of American empire will descend and point out that group to the admiring gaze of he millions of the inhabitants of the Pacific coast,

You must pardon this rhapsody. Of course l am in ecstasies, and what Democrat is not? have yet to see the first one. To attempt to expa tiate in round set terms upon the mighty results o flow from the admission of Oregon, would be a work of supererogation, and would be trespas. ing upon ground upon which not one of the many ntellectual men who advocated the passage of the Oregon bill essayed to tread. But I cannot leave the subject without paying a merited tribute to one of the most remarkable men this Republic tias ever produced. The passage of the Oregon State bill is attribu able entirely to the indomitable energy, unfalt ering labor and vigilance of Gen. Joe Lane .-

From the beginning of this Congress, up to the noment Mr. Speaker Orr announced the vote on Saturday, he had labored for it. Night and day, ipon all occasions, and under all circumstances, i has been the prime object of his every act .-Was there a member who was supposed to be inclined to oppose the admission of Oregon. General Lane was assiduous in his attention to nim. Did any of the many incidents attendant upon the passage of a bill through Congress threaten to throw it into the background, Gen'l Laue was on hand to fight the thing through. It has been the main topic of his conversation, and its success is emphatically a triumph of his persoual power and popularity. From personal conversation I am sure that there are thirty members of the House of Representatives who would not have voted for the bill at the solicitation of any other man in public life. Was there a doubt cast upon the regularity of the procedure of the people of the Territory in the formation of their tute government, Gen. Lane was appealed to, and when the word of the statesman and soldier was once passed, no man caviled further. Was the number of the population called in question, inquiry was made of Gen. Lane, and when he told ne story, the records of a census would not have een believed to have disproved his statements never saw such implicit confidence placed in the houor, prudence and foresight of any man, and cool, calm, and unmoved, the old hero passed through the whole year of suspense, delay, and opposition. No nukind word escaped him. No mprudent act was counseled by him, but all through the long and tiresome contest he exhibconfidence in himself, and the justice and right of his cause which characterized him at Buena Vista, It was a triumph for Joe Lane-a proud trium ph and vesterday the crowded gulleries of the new enate chamber showed plainly how great was Conscript Fathers of the Republic. The great coalition of the Opposition for the campaign of 1860 is now fully completed. The treaty was ratified to day. Seward, to the astonhment of everybody, has sold out. Rank and le, army, ammunition, camp equipage and stores, all are sold. Mr. Crittenden, of Kentucky, is to be the candidate. Mr. Seward to-day had an interview with several of the leaders, and formally annonuced his gratification that the contending parties had come to terms, and declared himself ready to support Mr. Crittenden. You may assure the readers of the Courier that the nominaion of this gentleman, by a convention of all the prosition to the Democratic party, is a fixed act. Mr. Henry S. Lane, of Indiana, is to rnn for the Vice Presidency on the ticket with Mr. Crit ten len. It was to bring about this result that Mr. Lane was sent on here by the Indiana Republicans, to claim Mr. Bright's seat in the Senate. In this arrangement the Republicans concede everything-platform, men, all is conceded-with the full understanding, however, that they are to have the division of the spoils. Mr. Seward is to go into Mr. Crittenden's Cabinet as Secretary of State or of the Treasury, and is to control the patronage so as to bring about a compact organication of the party, and to secure his own nomi nation and election in 1864. This is a bona fide transaction, and the details may be relied on. It was to-day communicated to me in great glee by confidential friend of Mr. Crittenden, who had no dea that I ever wrote for a newspaper. Crittenden and Lane is the ticket for 1360 of the odds and ends of the opposition to the Democratic party, and it is useless to attempt to disguise the fact that it will make a strong ticket. There is only one way in which it can be beaten, and that is for Democrats to cease wrangling and quarreling about men, go to Charleston and take np some sound, conservative, National Democratsome man who has been true to the interests o the South, the Union, and the Democratic partysome man who has been sufficiently before the per ple for several years to have his character and intellect known and appreciated, but who has not been recognized as a leader or champion of any paricular policy-in short, a man whose character will be a sufficient guarantee of his integrity and shility. With such a man, nominated peaceably and kindly, we can beat Mr. Crittenden, and in no other way.

FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK, Editors Louisville Courier: We have had "all orts of weather" this week : first, three delightful sleighing days, the snow deep and immacu-ccessories favorable to a sleighing carnival. On what gay, bright scenes, I looked down rom my window these gala days! Dashingly the fancy turn-outs rolled along, the fast horses prancing to the music of the merry bells, and the gay langhter of the merrier belles and finder beaux. Now came by a family sleigh, with its liveried servants and the whole household, from ne gray baired, aristocratic "bead of the fan.ily. the baby in Bridger's lap, whose blue eves oked out on the first snow since its little life looked out on the first snow since its little life began; then a dainty "cutter," a very sca-shell, gliding over the waves of snow; the jehn-lover, regardless of the ambition of his spirited "span," looking in the bright, rosy face of the pretty little creature, all mnilleld in sables, sitting so very close to his heart. No fwonder they went over into the dewny snow-bed, laughing merrily the while. With a conservative, old fogy air, the stand omnihus drew "its slow length along," the driver, from his clevated sont, glaucing down with dignified disapproval on the swiftly gliding equipages, so richly freighted with the beauty

But the beautiful sunshine and soft breezes hat we all love, gave a final stroke to the leighing gaities, and on the streats and side-valks the snow melted and blended with other ements, making that frightful melinge, well nown in Metropolitan vernacular as visik. How aintily the ladies tripped along, skirts gracefully evated, revealing the bright Balmoral and stur y India rubber boots. I saw, yesterday, a picture painted for one of the finest private galleries in America. It is One of the most readable little volumes I have seen for many a day, is "Timothy Fitcomb's Letters." It is just the book for one to read aloud to a fire-side group; and I doubt if one who reads or listens will not be wiser, happier, and better. It has inlimitable flashes of humor, touches of real pathos, honest and earnest throughout, without a shadow of cant or transcendantalism, as most letters of "advice" do have.

LOUISVILLE: SATURDAY, ... FEBRUARY 19, 1859. Statistics of the Spiritualists.

During the last few years, a numerous order of persons have grown up in this country, under the name of Spiritualists. It is possible that something of their creed has existed, time out of mind, in this mundane sphere; but those whom we call the Spiritualists of this generation organized under the Rochester knockings a few years ago. The order, as a matter of course, is of Northorn origin, where were born and bred Higher-Law ism, Abolitionism, Black Republicanism, Free Seilism, Emancipationism, Underground Rail roadism, Free-Niggerism, Free Loveism, Bloomerism, Woman's Rightsism, Know Nothingism, and all the other isms of the age. They call themselves Spiratualists, but the meeting at Rutland not long since, as well as other things, suggest more of the earthy than the ethereal in their com sermons, make speeches, write books, print newspapers, hold communion with the inhabitants of the unscen world, and do many other things too tedious to mention. They consist of men, women, children, and niggers, with a preponderating sprinkling of knaves and lunatics. Some of them are very sensible persons in all things except table knocking, and involuntary hieroglyphic scribbling on paper, but others do some marvelously strange things. Not long since a preacher belonging to the order made a trip to several of the planets, and published an account of what he had seen in those celestial orbs. One of their strong-minded women, who had become well stricken in years, and exceedingly unfair to look upon, without securing a husband, on being informed by the rappings of invisibles, upon a table she had owned for half a century, that she was a model of beauty and loveliness, and being unable to convince the dwellers in this world of the fact, made haste to quit this unappreciative sphere and to join the more congenial knockers upon her table. Many strauge things are said, and written, and published of leading Spiritualists, but we have not time nor space to recount them now.

It is astonishing, however, how many of these Spiritnalists the world row numbers. The Spirit 1,284,000 in the United States, 40,000 in Canada, 1,000 in Cuba, 15,000 in South America, and 660,000 in the Olden World. These figures make a grand total of 1 21, 10, which makes it legitimate for us to assume that there are two millions of them in the world. This is a huge number of persons to be engaged in table-knocking with the nhabitants of the unseen world, but the number seems to be increasing from year to year.

According to the Regisler, the Spiritualists in this country are distributed over the different

We are sorry to see that Kentucky is put down to contain 10,000, but there is no accounting for the tustes of our people where so many isms of the North are daily descanted upon and approved by the newspapers published among them. We also learn from the Register that these are not all the speakers and mediums. It estimates that the order has at least 1,000 speakers, and that the order has at least 1,000 speakers, and 40,000 mediums, including public and private.-The association have published 500 books and pamphlets, and is now sustaining six weekly, three semi-weekly, and four monthly newspapers, devoted to the cause of Spiritualism.

It is evident, therefore, that Spiritnalism is quite an institution. It has its two millions of converts, its thousand preachers, its 40,000 mediums, and its books and newspapers, all engaged in making new converts. One would think that such an army would set all the tables in the country to dancing jigs, all the involuntary hands to writing hieroglyphics, and half the spirits of the other realm to hunting up news to impart to the anxions ones of this mundane sphere, who would pry into the mysteries of the unknown world.

IMPORTANT DEVELOPMENTS!

SEWARD CAVES. Crittenden and the Black Republicans!

THE "OPPOSITION" PROGRAMME!!

We ask the special attention of our readers to he remarkable developments made by our intelligent and well-posted Washington correspondent "Teddy." The bargain between the Black Republicans and Know Nothings has been concluded so far as the high-contracting parties are oncerned, and it is expected that the brethren will ratify the contract. Seward yields his claims, and has consented to support Crittenden, who is to be the "Opposition" candidate for President, with Lanc, of Indiana, an ultra Black Republican, to be on the ticket for Vice President. Seward is to go into the Cabinet, and the contract two factions. This is considered by the parties as a very nice arrangement, but the people will be pretty apt to spoil it. For the South we can answcr that the new programme will, so far from meeting with any favor, be received with the deepest iudignation. All honest men will regard with contempt and detestation such a vile and base coalition, and a united South will pronounce such a verdict upon it as will overwhelm its authors with disgrace.

We shall see what response the "Opposition" State Convention, which is to meet in this city next week, will make to the vile compact.

Marshall on the Admission of Oregon. The pro-slavery men of this district must not Congress, voted against Oregon becoming a State, Street, They must not forget, either, that the Journal, Mr. Marshall's organ, denies the assertion of the Cincinnati Commercial to the effect that Humphrey would not be a candidate for re-election, and nsinuates pretty clearly that the "Toss-of-a-Copper" will be heads he wins, and tails everybody ise loses, the K. N. nomination for unother term. And, while the pro-slavery men are remembering these things, they must think also o the company that Marshall keeps in Congress. In his vote against the admission of Oregon with its constitution, cutting of free niggers from the rights of citizenship, the Hon. Humphrey stood with the following Black Republicans:

A few of these names, such as Giddings, Bur ingame and Matteson, are familiar to every slave owner in the land, and the others, though less noted, are of the same character. How do the anti-Free-Niggerites of this district like the company in which Humphrey is found? Is it all

We confess we could see some men in such company without suspicion. But Humphrey won't do. He is a suspected man in very suspicious company. His autecedents are very bad, and such company and such votes don't improve him a particle. Can it be possible that Hamphrey sympathises with the free-niggers of a country so far from home as Oregon as to place bin in such company and to superinduce such a vote:

THE CHRISTIAN UNION. - The second number of this admirable religious weekly issues this morn ing from the mighty job office of the Louisville Daily Courier. It is such a paper as is rarely gotten up, and will bear the most scrutinging criticism, whether directed to its editorials, selections, typography, or even the quality of the pa per on which it is printed. It is indeed a model religious paper, and we know no better way or the following table of contents of the present CUBA IN DANGER .- It was rumored on the street yesterday that special instructions had been given to our District Attorney, to sue out a writ of ad quad dannum before 'Squires Clement and Matlack, against the island of Cuba. If such is the fact, there is no use in making further efforts to acquire the island, but particular efforts should be made to prevent the knaves from deciding that we have not the island after we get it.

Watches made by Charles Frodsham, 44 Strand, for the City of Louisville and State of Kentuck;
S. WILLARD & SON, 9 Congress st.,
Sole Agents for the United States.

CHARLES FRODSHAM'S WATCHES SIMON WILLARD & SON, No. 9 Congress Street, Buston

GRAND MEDAL OF HONOR Was awarded to Mr. Frodsham for the perfection of the principle, mechanism, and performance of the Chronom-eter Watches exhibited by him, and styled his "NEW intris."

The critical notice accompanying the award, writter a distinguished French Savan, says: "Mr. Fredsham ercfore, has rendered eminent service to science; it is side that he be rewarded for it, at least with the culous of a billion stars."

inside that he be rewarded for it, at least with the eulogium of public praise."

In the new series, Mr. Frodsham has succeeded by a more perfect method of compensation, a more correct adjustment in isocurousm, and in an entirely new and peculiar construction of the train, in producing watches confided by changes of temperature, position or moniton, or even violent exercise, and at the same time of unrivaled accuracy.

At the London Exhibition of 1851, Mr. Frodsham's contribution was noticed as bearing the stamp of peculiar merit, and being the flower of the English school—in recognition of the excellence of the principle of 11s ilme keepers, the Brillish Government has awarded Mr. Frodsham the sum of £3,170.

Mr. Frodsham, after a great number of experimen's came to the conclusion that the only way to improve the came to the conclusion that the only way to improve the watch was by adopting the proportions of the Marine Chronometer, its tests and adjustments,—this Mr. Froislann has done in the watches of the New Scales, and has found that with strictly chronometrical proportions there of country at the contract the contract of the New Scales, and has found that with strictly chronometrical proportions.

iss found that with strictly chromome trical proportions hey are quite interaction. Experience proves the New Series Witches to be stronger, more powerful, and more necessate between enderned than any hereofore produced. The manipulation or mechanical excellence of fini hof the work, each Watch being a model of perfection. The final adjustments of Compensation, Isaachronts, and Positions,—whereby neither extremes of temperature, violent exercise, nor change of place, have an appreciable disturbing effect.

As a peculiar advantage, there is no danger of stopping under the most violent motion, either in the cars, on horselatek, or in any vehicle. In over one hundred instances these watches have stood the test of actual daily noting, and have exhibited as a result, a rate equal in regularity to the best Marline Chromometers. In several instances, their performance at each has been superfor to the Chromometer. To those who reside on the line of railroads, or whose avocations taking them frequently in the cars, make a perfect thackeeper less of a luxury than a necessity, these Watches are recommended with the most complete confidence.

Bosron, Jan. 6, 1859.

Messrs. S. Willard & Son—Genis: On comparing my watch, (Charles Frodedam, No. 5387), with your Regulator to-day, I found it 85 seconds alow, and, on looking over my record, it appears that the watch was set in March, 1858, 12 seconds slow, making a variation in ten months of 26 seconds. Lest this may appear accidental I will copy the record, which shows thus:

March, slow, 12 seconds, August, slow, 12 seconds, April, "12 " Peptember, "18 "
May, "12 " October, "22 "
June, "13 " November, "24 "
June, "13 " November, "32 "
Juny, "10 " December, "32 "
January, slow, 28 seconds.

I consider a performance so accurate for such a length of time, to say the least, wonderful, and would not sell the watch for $500, if I could not replace it.

Yours, very truly, L. BLANCHARD.

The underwriters, of Boston, have shown the estimation in which they hold these watches by the number, they have purchased for presentation to meriterious of ficers. Among those who have received these testimonials of distinguished respect, may be mentioned. Capt. BROCK, Ship Noonday.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Hotse.—Mr. English, of Ind., called up the bill relating to postage on newspapers and periodicals. He said that it had been extensively reported through the press that the bill proposed to tax newspapers passing in ex-change. This was not the fact. The design was that periodical dealers shall receive mail matter on the same terms as regular subscribers. An: on the same terms as regular subscribers. Another section authorized maps and lithographs to be carried at one cent per ounce. Heretofore such matter had been excluded from the mail, and the thid section proposed to punish persons taking letters out of the post by mistake and wilfully and fraudulently omitting to return them, and also persons who, in like manner, fail to apply money handed them for the pre-payment of postage, &c. McLean's Volcanic 011 Liniment.

The best Liniment in the workt for man or beast.

Another remarkable cure performed by McLean's Volcanic 011 Liniment. Read for yourselves:

Thomas Ford, a blacksmith, living near Cass avenue, on Tenth street, had a horrible running sore on his foot. He tried various Liniments, Salves, &c., but could do it no good. He despaired of ever being able to work at his trade again, because he could not bear any weight on his foot; and by one small bottle of McLean's Volcanic 011 Liniment, he is now perfectly cured.

Rheumatism, paraiysis, neuralgia, bruisses, sprains, stiffuess in the joints or muxcles, swellings, sore throat, earache or toothache, wounds, fresh cuts, sores, burns, scalds, paius, &c., yield so the' magic' influence of this wonderful Liniment.

For Horses and Cattle it is an infallible remedy for chafes, galls, scratches, oracked heels, lameness, spawinsweeny, splint, fistua, bruisses, swellings, wounds, rattle, make bites, and various other diseases which animals are liable to from injuries or accidents.

Spare her at least: look, you have taken from me The present, and I murmur not, nor moan; The future, too, with all her glorlous promise; But do not leave me utterly alone.

Spare me the Past—for, see, sits cannot berm you, She lies so white and cell, wrapp'd in her shroud, All, all my own! and trust us I will hids her Within my soul nor speak to her aloud. I folded her soft hands upon her bosom

And strew'd my flowers upon her—they still live— Sometimes I like to kiss her closed white syelids, And think of all the joy she used to give. Cruel indeed it were to take her from me; She siceps, she will not wake—no fear—again And so I isid her, such a gentle burthen Quiedly on my heart to still its pain.

I do not think the rosy, smiling present, Or the vague future, spite of all her charms. Could ever rival her You know you laid her, Long years ago, then living, in my arms. Leave her at least-while my leave fall upon her,

I dream she smiles, just as she dld of yore; As dear as ever to me-nay, it may be, Even dearers ill-since I have nothing more.

"WIT AND WISDOM."

PREPARED EXPRESSLY FOR THE LOUISVILLE COURIER, BY

Why should not the Courier have a "Wit and Wisdom" column as well as the New York Cobb Crusher, "It is most tolerable and not to be endured," that one paper should monopolize all the funnyisms of this funny age. We don't intend to stand it. We will have a half witty column, though it snaps all the stay strings and bursts off all the buttons in this sober-sided community .-Let the immortal Lonner look out for his Bedger. We are coming. To show that we are equal to the task, we propose to compare our efforts with the half witty man of the Cobb Crusher. Now:

As Indian became very much intoxicated in St. Paul, Minnesota, not long sinee; and on being sunoved by a parcel of young men, he kicked two of them repeatedly. This led to a great deal of ill-feeling, and there would have been bloodshed had not a bystander called out, "What else could you expect of a Kickapoo Iadian?" This raised a general laugh during which all traces at ill work. general laugh, during which all traces of ill humor rapished. - G. D. P's half witty column.

THE FARM COURIER

THE FARM: THE ORCHARD: THE STOCK RANGE LOUISVILLE ... FEBRUARY 19, 1859.

APPLICATION OF MANURES

In manuring for field crops, there is certainly oom for reasonable differences of opinion as to the time and method of their application -whether it is best to hand them out and spread them in the fall, the winter, or the spring, and whether most advisable to apply them as a top-dressing merely, or as a dressing on ground already plowed, for the purpose of harrowing them in, or as an application to unplowed ground to be plowed in; and if the last, how deep they shall be turned under.

But in manuring orchards and vineyards, we do not think there can be room for such differences of opiniou and practice. Trees and vines are known to be supplied with a countless number of minute feeders or suckers, called spongioles, by means of which lique fied plant-food is taken up nto the roots, and passes into the general eircuation of the vegetable structure. These spongioles or mouths terminate the threadlike fibrous roots, which feed the main roots, but are not apon the main roots themselves. The main roots' branch from the collar of the vine or tree, at or very near the surface of the ground,) and ramify in every direction-in fruit trees occupying as arge a diameter as the top of the structure, in vines keeping pace with the n tural growth of general either not cultivated at all, or the twine-like or rope-like top of the individual plant. We have removed from nursery rows in moist, rich, mellow soil, eatawba grapes of but a single season's growth, having but two or three cord-like roots, with no spongioles or feeders near the plant, but terminating eight, nine, and even ten feet from the collar, in scores of fibrous rootlets supplied with thusands of mouths that had conveyed suitable food to the plant and given it its great luxuriance. So we have removed fruittrees from similar situations, at one, two and three years old, with main roots sinking downward at angles something like forty-five degrees, and secondary roots running off from these two or three feet and terminating in numerous fibers supplied with countless spongioles. In orchards ten or twelve years old, it is safe to say that the great mass of the feeders are as many feet from the place where the stem rises from the ground, and that not one-hundredth or one-thousandth part of them are within two or three feet of that place. So in a vincyard only four or five years old, planted at the usual distances, it may be assumed-and a brief inspection will show the assumption to be correct-that very few fibrous feeders judeed, compared with the whole number lie within two or three feet of the collar of the plant, but that most of them are out in search for ood four or five feet from that point. Yet, while out examining fruit bcds a few days ago, in the happy Valley of Pewee, we passed through the orchard and vineyard of an amateur cultivator of much more than average intelligence who seeks to have things done just about right, and pays for having them done so-when we found a little hillock of manure of perhaps a foot and a half in diameter and three or four inches high around the collar of each vine, and an application of compost about the stem of every tree extending out circularly between two and three

Neighbor, that's just where your stimulants are not wanted, where much of their richness will go to waste in February suns and March winds, and where it will be of service to your trees and your plants just so far and so fast as spring and summer rains wash it from the place where you have with so much care and labor deposited it. Don't you see this, now that your attention is called to the fact? Your apple trees are about seven years old, your neach trees a year or two younger, your grape vines one and two years younger still. Why, the mouths craving YOUNG MEN-Who, by industing in solliary habits, food are off inidway between the rows, and you their reach, not to speak of the unsightly appear ance it gives your grounds'

The next time you go through this operation try to do it in the month of December having previously cultivated the land. Spread the manure rough ground, and midway of the eight-feet spaces between the rows of your Catawbis eovering between every two rows a land three or over and the sun is getting hot enough to fermen that is lost of it will be down among the fibers, within reach of the spongioles, and entirely beyoud the danger of theft by sun and wind What remains of it will be woody material, useful as a mulch, which will he rotting on the surface till you give the ground its first summer dress and turned under.

ing, when it will be broken into minute fragments Corn may be manured in the hill advantageous ly, because it is at annual plant, and much degrowth. But orchards and vineyards are another thing, and the same philosophy don't apply t them. We have not a doubt, indeed, after all you trouble in heaping manure about the collars of your grapevines, that if you would go to work and kick it away, as near to the middle of the rows n convenient, and, so soon as the ground is dry enough, cultivate or hoe it in, the application would be twice or thrice as valuable as it will be if let alone. One good pair of " stogas," below a stout pair of ancies, might thus manipulate, perhaps, a half acre per day.

Look at each vine, And think of it-Then walt for the wine,

And drink of it. OUR NEW PARISH.

As the new year approaches close upon the threshold of the Spring, we take our seat upon the rustic tripod of the Farm Courier, to render to the good cause of agricultural industry and thrift such within the compass of our intelligence and ability. Enthusiastic as a practical cultivator of the soil hopeful and patient as an experimenter, full of faith as to reasonable progress in all departments of human employment and investigation, our labors in this behalf will be really "labors of love." We recognize no sphere of action, in which man engages, as superior in usefulness and importance to that of him who holds the plow, scatters the seed, cultivates the growing crop, and harvests the product. The results of his toil not only neurish and sustain the body, but without them there could be no due development of the soul; and he works, where he works intelligently and well, with the proud consciousness that his labor is one of the chief elements of State and National prosper culturist, and culogising, as we have done, the sphere of his action, it will become us, in candor, to acknowledge his short-comings. These consist maiuly in but partially regarding the teachings of experience, in robbing the soil he possesses of its virgin fertility without recompense, in slovenly and wasteful habits in cultivating its fair face, and in being slow to avail himself of the improved processes and improved machinery which the mental and material progress of the age places within his reach. These short-comings he will not himself deny; but agriculture is an engrossing pursuit; and, busied with his farm or his plantation, his garden or his orchard, his green pasture and the herds and flocks that range them, he fails to see much that is going on around him, or not far from him, and thus misses the incentive, and loses the means, of making any broader contrast between the present and the future, than he has already made between the past and the present. He needs a warning voice, constantly, to call his attention from the old style plows to the new, from the seed-bag about his neck to the drill and the broadcast sower, from the siekle and the scythe to the reaper and mower, from the flail and the barn-floor to the thresher and the separator, from open ditches to under-draining, from his exhausted fields to the still fertile acres of his neighbor who makes annual restitution by composts and manners, and from the lean and ungainly stock that "eats out his substance," to the sleek, symmetrical, and regal animals that add beauty to the pastures and wealth to the pockets of those who note current improvements and avail themselves of the advantages, which they proffer.

This is the office of the agricultural journal, and strnmentalities have greatly multiplied; but much s still overlooked -owing to the limited circulation of the journals, and limited attendance at the fairs. And, to supply such deficiencies in part, we this day organize a new agricultural parish, commousurate with the circulation of the Daily and the Weekly Courier, which is commensurate with the extension of the Western and the Southwestern States. And to this parish we shall minister, faithfullyand earnestly, with such ability and intelligence as we have. The elevation of our tripod will enable us to see much that the farmer, bending daily to his toil, cannot behold; and to whatever improvement comes along, in process or nachine, which is true to its pretensions, we shall not be slow to call his attention.

Among the needs to agriculture, in this new parish of ours, the following must be acknowledged by all who are not hopelessly indifferent to improvement, or eulpably blind to that remarkable progress which is so striking a character of the

1. Justice to the Sil-by which that shameless waste of its fertility, which now so generally marks our agricultural practices, shall be discontinued, and a judicious system of restitution, through composts and manures, be adopted in its stead. 2. A more Thorough Propagation for Seed - by means of increased plowing in the fall, a graduated course of deeper plowing at all times, and better ulverising of the soil, through the use of erosslowing, harrowing and cross harrowing, rolling' liding, etc. 3. Edter Seeding-by which expression we ean the use of drilling in the small grains where-ever practicable, of the broad-cast sower where the drill cannot be used, of the roller or the slide after seeding, of a more uniform depth of covering, and, especially, of seed enough. 4. Improved Tillage-especially of corn and potatoes, which are the chicf crops of early summer culture, and of young orchards, which are in robbed of the food and moisture necessary to their healthy and vigorous growth, by being seeded down to grasses and small grains. 5. Due Heel to the Results of Reported Esperiments Carefully and Properly Male-by which the errors and expenditures of ignorance may be avoided, and the improved processes of enlightened and successful agriculturasts be mastered and adopt-6. A More Creef il Sel ling i soul-by means of which such may be obtained as are true to their names, as are free from weeds and foreign admixtures, as are fully developed, we'l matured, and suited to the peculiarities of the region in which

7. Adoption and Use of th Ingro el Michinery ow in Voque-by which the labors of the farm are essened, its processes simplified and quickened and its results made more remunerative and more certain 3. Special Education - by which the farmer may er, the doctor, and the preacher, are each preared for the business of their lives. Such, as it appears to us, are the prominer ends to agriculture as it exists in our new par-4. And to these needs we shall minister, direct y and indirectly, from time to time, as occasion nay seem to require. We shall need help, anwill be thankful to any good farmer, whose practices and successes entitle him to a hearing, it he will speak through these columns in behalf of the

The season for sowing onts will soon be at hand. There is considerable diversity of opinion as to the best time at which to commit this grain to the earth. Convenience also has a good deal to do with the period of seeding it. Commonly, it is put in all through the munth of March, early in the month if the pround is dry enough to work ater if it is not Some of the heaviest yields ever btained in the northern part of Kentucky were from February seeding. Good erops have all o grown where seed was put in as late as the third veek in April, and fair crops from sowing the middle of May. One large crop that has been re ported to us, was sown on a February snow, th ield having been plowed the previous fall.

er's spring employment. It is well to have i done as soon as possible, that it may be out of the of other work. If February will an on ground plowed in the fall, should be found, o point is gained. We intend to try both or these experiments the present season-of course in onall way. No prudent farmer will risk much on one or two experiments, male by another, and her partly accidental, as was the ease with those to which we have referred. We intend to divide couple of acres plowed last November, into two February, the other half the second week in March.

some experiments, and report the results to us, that we may publish them for the benefit of the ly sown upon oats, lightly brashing or sliding the ground, to cover them, after the oats have been harrowed iu. This, again, makes early seediu; of oats desirable, for both the grass and the clover do well sown in February-if upon a light snow. the better. In this case, the use of the brush of the slide may be omitted. Thorough Pseparation, we have always believed was essential to success in raising any good crop. Fall plowing, however, in the rough, is not "the rough preparation," yet it has given heavy yields, n certain instances. Perhaps the disintegration or melting dows, of the clods, by the winter and spring's frost and thaw, with the harrowing at the time of sowing, is equivalent to thorough preparation in the first instance. If so, fall plowing not only enables the oat crop to be got in early, but also saves a good deal of labor, and that at season when time is money to the farmer. But the oat crop has been found to do well, uo only when seeded on fall-plowed ground, but also when sown upon corn stubble, without any plow ing, and covered by means of a coarse, heavy drag. A successful farmer in Ohio, a conple o years ago, stated that this was his regular practice, in seeding oats, and that be always had good crops. These statements were made through the Ohio Farmer. We do not dispute the facts he set forth, of course, but should be loth to recommend his practice to others. Rotation we have always supposed to be as ne cessary to the oat as to any other crop. Yet it is not an uncommon practice now-a-days, in Virginia, on land of second or third quality, to follow oats with oats, once, twice, or three times. This would hardly be done, even in the Accomac Dis trict, "where never a newspaper has been printed," unless found to answer a good purpose. Nay-we remember that the editor of the Virginia Plant er, two or three years ago, stated tha, on a well managed plantation, of second-rate land, as part of a regular system, crops of outs were taken from one field, for five successive years, the last crop being as good as the first. Such facts are puzzliug: yet common experience shows them to be so exceptional in their character, that they should be permitted to leave no influence, beyond that of nducing experiments, in a very small way, to test their truth or falsity as applicable to other localties than those to which they refer.

Opinion and practice as to the quantity of oats which it is best to sow to the acre, vary in different State s, in different sections of the same State, and even in different parts of the same neighborhood. A bushel and a half to two bushels is the most usual quantity, even on second-rate land, the higher measure being very seldom exceeded. That this is a smaller quantity than it is advisable to sow upon such land, experiment has often indicated. On such land, two bushels is a good seeding, because upon such land the oat tillers a great deal. On poor land it tillers much less, and burns out not a little in dry seasons; and hence upon second and third rate soils two and a half to three bushels should be sown to the acre. Where the object is to lay the land down to grass or clover, the lower measure may be safely Oats intended to be passed through a straw-cu ter, in the sheaf, for horse and cattle feed, should is, of course, the fancy of a lady, and consists of the burr of a pine tree placed in a wine glass half full of water, and from between the different layrull of water, and from between the different layers of the burr are shooting forth green blades, bright, beautiful refreshing. For a little thing we have seen nothing that so pleased us with its beauty and novelty. And the secret is this; the circles were sprinkled with grass seed, and it was burr was found dried and opened; the different placed in a wine glass, with water in as above. BUCKWHEAT AS FOOD. -M. INIDOTE l'iETTE has reently been making investigations on buckwheat, rom which we condense the following interesting esults: Buckwheat cakes are equal to pure white bread as regards the phosphates or bone making material, nitrogenous principles which they con-tain and are superior to bread in fatty matters. The general yield of buckwheat when cooked is about hree times the weight of the flour used, showing hat such flour will retain forty to forty one per ent. of water. Between dellerent batches of ound buckwheat there is a great dissimilarity of composition—one batch containing nearly seventeen times as much nitrogen, twenty five times the amount of phosphates, and a hundred and fitteen times as much latty matter as another. The bran is the richest portion of the buckwheat, but cannot be digested by weak stomachs. The finest nalities of buckwheat thur, and the white mill ust especially, are very su table for children and persons in delicate health, while the coarser va ties require a strong stomach and uch exer
